

The A Kicking club presents...

The Mystery of Shenandoah

A teal triangle is positioned on the right side of the slide. A pixelated soccer ball is placed on top of the triangle, appearing to be in motion as if about to be kicked.

A Jim Henson production

The Legend tells of a Great Beast that lurks in the forests of Shenandoah.

The locals have feared the existence of the beast for many generations. They treat it with respect and fear. Few have ever seen it, fewer have survived it, yet fewer doubt its existence, fewer still have any idea where Shenandoah is.

Some say it has claws and wings, others believe that it crawls along on all fours and hunts deer with its razor sharp teeth. Locals believe it is as black as coal, while some say it is white so it can hide in the snow. Experts argue that it is impossible for such a beast to remain hidden for so long. While more controversial sources assert that it must have a “mommy”.

Whatever version you have heard, (even the one about the fact that it has to “go poopies” before it sleeps at night otherwise it makes a terrible mess) in this documentary we debunk the “myth” of the GREAT BIG BLACK AND WHITE JET-PACK FOUR-LEGGED FLYING BEAST DOG OF SHENANDOAH.....

Tranquil Shenandoah National Park...

Evidence of the Beast is slim...

Camerasman's foot included for "life-size" comparison

...and some of the evidence is controversial...

There have been a few who have fallen prey to this terrible beast...

...and have never been seen again. May God bless their souls.

In 1987, one hiker claimed he was witness to the beast's ferocity and even had the opportunity to photograph the monstrosity...

Though the evidence is not clear.

There were a few sightings that have recently been proved to be hoaxes...

But finally, this intrepid photographer has real live, face-to-face, undeniable, uncontroversial, first-hand account, go-and-change-your-pants evidence that the Beast of Shenandoah does exist...

BOM BOM BOMMMMMM....

Unfortunately, the beast attacked this photographer before there was an opportunity to take a clear picture. However, this shot reveals that the beast definitely wears a jet-pack to assail its prey.

People, we must live in fear. For, we can no longer deny the existence of...

The GREAT AnnieMaul Beast!!

Although no animals were harmed, the cameraman received a nasty shock, got snow on his camera, a bruise on his toe where his shoes were chafing and didn't get paid for his efforts.
